

The Septagon Difference

Brad Leonard
President

Brad Leonard is president of Septagon Construction-Grimes. In this position, he leads the Grimes office with the responsibility of sales, marketing and overall management of Septagon's construction services. Mr. Leonard works with current and prospective clients to deliver the construction services that best fit their needs. He is also vice president of sales and marketing for all Iowa locations and is part of Septagon Industries' Executive Leadership Team.

Mr. Leonard has been in the construction industry since 1993. He graduated from the University of Northern Iowa where he earned a Bachelor of Science degree in construction management. During his time at Septagon, Mr. Leonard has served many different roles including estimating, project management, design/build sales and construction management sales. He has been involved with all types of projects while at Septagon including schools, churches, office buildings, warehouse space, manufacturing, community buildings, retail space and auto dealerships.

Mr. Leonard has been active in a variety of community activities, including Junior Achievement, United Way Day of Caring, Rebuilding Together, Rotary, American Society of Professional Estimators and Grimes Chamber of Commerce. He has also served his local church as a youth group leader and as the head of the building committee.

Mr. Leonard and his wife, Tami, have two sons, Brady and Jake. In his spare time, Mr. Leonard enjoys being outdoors, playing golf, fishing and watching his children's activities.
